Estimated That Much or More Landed Daily From Nearby Rum Fleet Hijackers Are at Work; Prohibition Forces Lack Small, Fast Boats

San Pedro, Cal., May 14.—Rum runners, hi-jackers and United States law enforcement officers are waging a "triangular war" here today. Police and federal prohibition agents last night admitted they had had little success in stemming the flow of illicit liquor from a rum fleet of five vessels said to be lying off the coast between here and San Diego, but declared they had evidence to show hi-jackers were making it hot for the rum smugglers. Reports were being investigated today of a shooting affray which took place about midnight on the road near White Point, overlooking the harbor. A large truck, followed closely by a touring car, was attacked by another touring car, residents of the outlying district told police, and volleys of pistol shots were exchanged.

Between $10,000 and $20,000 worth of whisky is being landed in or near the harbor daily, officers estimate, adding frankly that the impounding of liquor will continue so long as they are handicapped by entire lack of small, fast boats with which to patrol the port. San Pedro is the seaport of the city of Los Angeles. PRICES CHANGING. The price of liquor, going up in New York, owing to the dry navy's blockade of the east coast rum run, is going down in California. Many of the ships, unable to do business there, have sailed for the Pacific coast.

LARGE SUPPLIES. Some estimates place the value of whisky landed in the around San Diego within the past forty-eight hours at more than $200,000. The bottom has fallen out of the gin market in California. Scotch is reported to be selling for $1 a quart in Los Angeles, compared with previous prices of 46 to 48.

CHINESE SOLDIERS KILLED BANDITS AND LOOTED TRAIN

Thirty-five Robbers Tricked and Shot at Kanafeng, Honan Province Brigands Had Been Promised Places in Army of the Republic

Peking, May 14.—The Tientsin Times correspondent reports thirty-five bandits were shot to death and sixteen trains looted as the result of a ruse on the part of soldiers stationed at Kanafeng, Honan Province. The bandits, stationed near Kwei-chow, were given a promise they would be taken into the army. As a result about fifty bandits boarded two cars attached to a passenger train and local provincial troops occupied the station at Kanafeng to await their arrival. When the train ran into the station the two cars containing the bandits were detached at the east platform and the main train proceeded for a short distance. The soldiers then surrounded the train and riddled the bandits with bullets, but not before many soldiers had been wounded by return fire. When the shooting was over the soldiers proceeded to loot the train.

APPEAL DECIDED AFTER MAN KILLED

Wing Lee Loses in David Lew Case Under London Ruling

London, May 14 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today dismissed the appeal in the case of Wing Lee, a Chinese resident of Vancouver, B.C., and the action was for damages for alleged malicious prosecution and false arrest. The interesting point in connection with the appeal was that the appellant was murdered after the appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada had begun. There was a question as to whether upon the death of the appellant the action died with him, but in this case special leave to appeal was given by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

NANAIMO INCIDENTS

Vancouver, May 14.—The slander action was brought by David Lew against the Nanaimo Journal, as a result of alleged charges following a Nanaimo jury allowed David Lew $10,000 damages against Wing Lee, although $5,000 had been the amount first asked for. Subsequent courts reversed the verdict rendered on the appeal. It was Wing Lee who took the case to the Privy Council in London, which has now dismissed the appeal.

FRASER RIVER RISES AND FERRY SERVICE AT MISSION INTERRUPTED

Mission City, May 14.—The Fraser River has risen eight feet here since May 1 and is still rising rapidly. At 3 o'clock this morning the Government instruments indicated a depth of 14 feet 11 inches, that being an increase of ten inches since yesterday morning. Ferry service between Matsqui and Mission was disrupted through the lifting of 100 feet of the ferry slip by the rising water. The ferry is now tied up on the Matsqui side of the landing awaiting repairs to the slip. The pile-driver that was to repair the slip was sunk in the river last night while on its way to the job and considerable anxiety is felt here as the raging waters may do great damage.

SPEAKS IN LONDON OF CANADA'S WORK; SIR R. FALCONER

London, May 14.—Sir H. Rider Haggard, the author, died here today.

SIR RIDER HAGGARD DIED IN LONDON

Author Had Almost Reached Age of Sixty-nine Years; Born in England Was Visitor in Victoria in 1916; Brother Formerly Lived in Cowichan

London, May 14.—Sir H. Rider Haggard, the author, died here today. Henry Rider Haggard, was born at Bradenham Hall, Norfolk, England, June 22, 1856. When he was nineteen he went to South Africa as secretary to Sir Henry Bulwer, Governor of Natal. At the time of the first annexation of the Transvaal (1877), he was on the staff of the special commissioner, Sir Theophilus Shepstone; and he subsequently became a master of the high court of the Transvaal. He married in 1879 a Norfolk heiress, Miss Margitson, but returned to the Transvaal in time to witness its surrender to the Boers and the overthrow of the policy of his former chief. He returned to England and read for the bar, but soon took to literary work. He published Cityways and His White Neighbors (1882), written in defence of Sir T. Shepstone's policy. This was followed by the novel Dawn (1884), "The Witch's Head" (1885), which contains an account of the British defeat at Isandlwana, and in 1888 "King Solomon's Mines," suggested by the Kimberley ruins, which first made him popular. "She" (1887), another fantastic African story, was also very successful. "Ayesha, or the Return of Scar" (1890) and "Allan Quatermain" (1898) were also laid in Quartermain.

PROSECUTOR AT WONG HEARING ENDS HIS CASE

F. L. Baker Answers Questions of Counsel at Hearing of Murder Charge Against Chinese Growing Out of Death of Janet Smith; Tells of Transactions of Firm of Which He Was Member.

Vancouver, May 14.—The prosecution concluded its case at the preliminary hearing of Wong Foon Sing this morning, having reserved some sensational evidence for the final hour. Wong is charged with having murdered Janet Smith here in July last. F. L. Baker admitted on the witness stand that while in Paris with his wife and child, accompanied by Janet Smith, the firm of Baker, Golvynne & Company, of which he was a member, negotiated a contract for drugs from Japan to the value of $40,000. He stated that Janet Smith had known nothing whatever about that contract while in Paris or since; neither had the Chinaman known anything about it. Mr. Baker stated the firm with which he was connected directly, after the war, conducted a general chemical and drug business. Under cross-examination by J. H. Senkler, defence counsel, he stated the business was conducted on absolutely legitimate lines, under government permits, and all the business conducted was quite legal. He denied with considerable warmth that there had been a party in his house for the two nights preceding the tragedy, that any person had ever been familiar with Janet Smith in his house; that there had never been any drugs on the premises, and that either the nursemaid or the Chinaman had ever been known to have anything to do in any way with narcotics.

FOUNDATION OF CASE

"I propose to lay the foundations for my case, and show if there was any connection between this matter, the accused and Janet Smith," said counsel. "While in France Janet Smith was with you, your wife and child?" "Yes," replied the witness. "Did you not perfect certain contracts along the line I have mentioned, a contract with the Chin Seei Company of Osaka, Japan, for $10,000 worth of drugs?" "I remember signing the contract as a witness."

NOT TOLD OF BUSINESS

"No, she knew absolutely nothing about it. I never at any time told her of my business in Paris, and she never became aware of this in Vancouver," said the witness. "Did the accused know about it?" "No, he had no knowledge whatever of this business."

SHOT EXPERIMENTS

A human head was used in conducting experiments to ascertain the calibre and effect of a bullet passing through it, according to Provincial Police Constable Cruickshank, who described the experiments as follows: The constable stated the head had been held at a height of three and one-half feet from the floor, the name of the bullet was flattened out by the body of Janet Smith being used, and the same ammunition. The result was that the bullet was flattened out and not as it was in the case of the bullet found in the basement of the Oler Street home.

ELECTRIC IRON TESTED

Provincial Police Constable Hanna told of experiments conducted with the electric iron found beside the body of Janet Smith. At 2:30 o'clock, after the body had been removed, five minutes afterwards a piece of cloth was held against it for fifteen seconds with the result that it was scorched and melted. Constable Green of the Point Grey police was present at these experiments, and was asked to feel the iron from time to time and announce when it had reached the degree of heat equal to that of the iron when he found it beside the body of the nurse girl. It was not until after 5 o'clock that this degree was reached.

GREAT INTEREST

There was an attitude of tense excitement in the courtroom as M. B. Jackson questioned Mr. Baker with regard to his overseas connections. Mr. Baker, a quietly speaking man of refined appearance, answered all the questions directly. As Mr. Jackson led up to this evidence Mr. Senkler, defence counsel, inquired: "What has this to do with the Chinese?" "Neither the Chinaman nor Janet Smith had anything to do with what took place over there," the witness interjected.

PLAYED TENNIS

Mr. Baker stated there had been nothing of the kind. On the contrary, he had been playing in a tennis tournament and on both nights had gone to bed very tired about 9:30 o'clock. He further answered Mr. Senkler that the Chinaman had attempted to hide nothing on the day he was called home. (Concluded on page 2)

Commons Being Asked To Vote $50,000,000 for C.N.R.

Ottawa, May 14.—The House of Commons Committee on Railways and Shipping this morning carried a motion recommending the estimate of $20,000,000 for the Canadian National Railways for 1925-26. The motion contained the statement made by Hon. U. F. Graham, Minister of Railways, in his speech on the National Railways in the Commons, to the effect that the original estimate of $60,000,000 had been prepared early in the year and had since been revised by officials of the railway, who were of the opinion that only $50,000,000 would be required.

DR. SANFORD IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Principal of Columbian College Last Methodist Head Formerly Pastor of Centennial Church Here

On its second ballot this morning the B.C. Methodist Conference elected Dr. A. M. Sanford, Principal of Columbian College, New Westminster, as its final president. Dr. Sanford was not present, being detained in New Westminster by the closing of the academic year. In his absence Rev. J. P. Westman, the retiring president, was requested to carry on until the arrival of the new president. Rev. J. C. Switzer, who was strongly in favor with the conference for the presidency, was given a warm ovation on motion of Rev. C. A. Williams, of Wesley Church, who expressed his high esteem in which he held his action in moving that the vote of conference for Dr. Sanford be made unanimous had particularly appealed to conference. The election is regarded with peculiar interest as the title "President of Conference" will soon be history.

The retiring president, Mr. Westman, feelingly referred to the tender interest of ministers and lay during the breakdown in his health which ensued during the past year within a week of his re-election to the presidency for 1924-25. In the list of stations for the coming year his name appears as the new pastor of Centennial Methodist Church of this city, replacing Rev. H. W. Hibbert, recently appointed secretary for B.C. and Alberta of Religious Education. Mr. Westman is no stranger here, having been a pastor at Centennial in former years.

The conference is deeply gratified at securing for its final presiding officer a man whose life and work are actual bringing into effect of union so thoroughly competent a veteran in its service as Dr. Sanford. He began his work in this country at Sandon, was transferred to Rossland, thence to Nanaimo, then to Trinity Church, Vancouver, whence, twelve years ago, he waters and lay during the Cabinet in Ottawa on post office salaries. They will proceed as soon as a date for the conference is fixed, in response to an invitation by the Postmaster-General. Their aim, said Mr. Gardiner, would be to secure stabilized salary rates to cover the loss of the bonus.

ATTEMPTS MADE TO WRECK TRAINS

Efforts to Kill Passengers in "Polish Corridor;" Criminals Disturbed

Warsaw, May 14.—The joint German-Polish committee convened in Danzig to investigate the railroad disaster near Starogard, in which twenty-eight persons were killed, has rejected the German claim for indemnity, holding the condition of the roadbed, maintained by the Poles, was not responsible for the wreck. Thus far there has been no solution of the alleged intentional derailment of the train, although several arrests have been made. Two other attempts to wreck trains in the Polish "corridor" are reported.

NO BLAME PLACED ON TAX OFFICIALS

Question Whether Montreal Firm Delinquent Discussed By Ottawa Committee

Ottawa, May 14.—Suggestions that a firm in Montreal owed arrears of taxes to the Federal Government amounting to $166,241 from 1915 to 1920 inclusive, and that a former cabinet minister had protected the taxpayer in question from payment, were aired at a session of the Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons yesterday.

R. H. Bertrand, accountant of Montreal, admitted he had had certain correspondence with W. C. Good, Progressive M.P. for Brant, Ontario, in this matter, based on information received while he was connected with the alleged delinquent firm.

"I was asked by Mr. Good to submit certain details which he has and which he asked me to confirm. When he got them his conclusions were altogether too rapid. The details I have are very scant," said Mr. Bertrand.

In the first place, he did not know whether an assessment should have been made. Furthermore, it was possible the money due had since been paid. He knew, however, that no assessment had been made before 1922.

Mr. Bertrand explained that the figures covering the arrears of taxes, which were of a tentative nature and submitted by the department in the Fall of 1922, were very much in excess of those admitted by the firm.

The Government officials are not to blame in this matter at all—far from it," he said.

The name of the firm was not divulged.

SIDNEY BOARD DRAFTS MOTIONS FOR CONVENTION

Will Present Several Matters to Island Boards of Trade

Want Facilities at Sidney For Handling Goods in Bond

Special to The Times
Sidney, May 14.—The regular monthly meeting of the Sidney Board of Trade was held on Tuesday evening in Wesley Hall. A considerable amount of business occupied the attention of the members present. Mr. J. Duff, A. J. Campbell, V. Goddard and P. R. Wilson were the visitors of the evening. The board committee were not able to report any definite result of their endeavor to secure a pound, but those citizens who are allowing stock to roam the district are warned that definite action may be taken now at any time.

RESIGNATION

The resignation of the Rev. T. G. Griffiths was received with much regret and it was resolved that the thanks of the board should be conveyed to him, also that a committee be appointed to arrange a farewell banquet for him. A letter from the secretary, Mr. M. E. Ironside of Nanaimo, of the Associated Boards of Trade, Vancouver Island, advised the board that the annual convention would be held at Duncan early in June. It was resolved that the Board of Trade should be represented with a full delegation and that resolutions be forwarded in regard to the arbitrary rate on lumber against Vancouver Island, extending the close time for claims, bill boards on the highways and the right of way on the highways.

The question of goods in bond in and out of Sidney was brought to the notice of members and a resolution was passed asking that the facilities be greater in order that the convenience should be enjoyed at Sidney.

BREAKWATER

The problem of a breakwater was again discussed and it was resolved that a committee be appointed to further the project at the present time. The matter of garbage collection and disposal was considered and the secretary was instructed to bring this important question to the attention of the health department. The need of an express office at Sidney was again before the board and the express companies are to be requested to investigate the possibilities of opening an office here.

TELS OF LAWS FOR BENEFIT OF WOMEN

C. F. Davie is Speaker at Meeting of Duncan Institute

Members Decide on Exhibit at Fall Fair in September

Special to The Times
Duncan, May 14.—The regular monthly meeting of the Cowichan Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon, the President, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, in the chair. The secretary, Mrs. Rope, read the minutes and correspondence. Mrs. Whidden was appointed delegate to the biennial conference to be held in Victoria in June.

FALL FAIR

It was decided to have an exhibition of women's work at the Fall Fair in September, although no per capita grant for this will be forthcoming from the Government this year.

Mrs. Matland Douglas kindly offered her pretty home for an entertainment to augment the Institute's funds, and it was decided to hold a garden, fete there on or about June 17.

C. F. Davie, M.P.P., the speaker for the afternoon, then gave a most instructive and enlightening speech on the laws of British Columbia as they affect women and children. In tracing the growth of legislation pertaining to women, he said, it became necessary to look back upon the unenviable position occupied by her before the passage of that celebrated statute known as the Married Women's Property Act, which was enacted in 1870 and which was woman's Magna Charta.

WOMEN CONTROL

Before that Act came into force, the fact of marriage under the then laws of England served to convey to the husband absolutely all his wife's personal property; she had absolutely no control over the children except such as he allowed her, and his restrictions over both her liberty and her wages were unbridled.

He was completely changed by the above-mentioned Act, which, with the amendments, had now to all intents and purposes placed woman on a parity with men, so far as regards her right to hold separate property and to enter into contracts.

CHIEF ENACTMENTS

The other principal statutory enactments which have been passed in aid of and by way of expanding women's complete autonomy, casual, in order of importance, the following matters:

Descent of personal property. Equal guardianship of infants. The franchise.

After explaining the workings of these, Mr. Davie noted and explained the better welfare of poor or unfortunate women and children, including those who are obliged to become breadwinners, which are the Testator's Family Maintenance Act, the Bequested Wife's Maintenance Act, the Deceased Workmen's Wages Act, the Mothers' Pensions Act, the Families' Compensation Act, and the Minimum Wage Act, side by side with which is the Factories Act and the Maternity Protection Act.

PROTECTION ACT

A short but vitally stringent statute is that cited as the Women's and Girls' Protection Act, whereby the police may absolutely prevent any woman or girl from entering any place whatsoever, whether of business or amusement, if such place is considered likely to contaminate morals.

In conclusion, Mr. Davie said that having regard to the numerous laws of women and children, particularly women, it will be readily appreciated that British Columbia is considered likely to be the world in this aspect of legislation. On the contrary, our province is in the vanguard, and is a far ahead of enlightened and beneficial legislation designed for the purpose of ameliorating the condition of womankind at large.

A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Davie and tea was served by Mrs. Neal and Mrs. Macdonald.

Colwood, May 14.—A meeting will be held in the Colwood Hall on Monday, May 18, under the auspices of the Esquimalt Farmers' Institute, when John D. Galloway, Provincial Mineralogist, will give an address on "Mining in the Province of British Columbia." Mr. Galloway will deal completely with the whole subject from prospecting and recording, testing of minerals, promotion of companies and all stages of development to the producing stages of the mine.

This will be an exceptional opportunity to get first-hand information of the miners of all parts of the Province. The address will be illustrated by a series of slides, which should prove entertaining as well as educational.

Following this address the Chamber of Commerce will show a series of their beautiful colored slides of the different beauty spots of Vancouver Island. This presents an opportunity to see the kind of slides used by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to advertise Vancouver Island in different parts of the continent as well as in Europe.

THE KATHLEEN'S TRIUMPH

IF THE PRINCESS KATHLEEN had been the property of the City of Seattle, and the complimentary voyage a maritime record for the neighboring republic, our friends across the way could not have demonstrated more friendly enthusiasm for a new and promising development of transportation in these waters than was manifest on Tuesday and yesterday. The people in the Sound City had been looking forward to the arrival of the Kathleen and her record-shattering journey was obviously a matter of much more than ordinary interest to the thousands awaiting her at the new terminals. And if it were possible for that interest to be increased, such was the case when many influential citizens of Seattle were welcomed on board for the return journey, the magnificent vessel, to the accompaniment of rounds of cheers, slipping from her moorings at full speed to establish another steaming record.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company—Captain Troup in particular—and the officers and crew of the Princess Kathleen are thoroughly entitled to congratulate themselves on the performance of this palatial vessel under service conditions in the waters for which she was designed. All the officials of the company who were able to make the journey themselves will have listened to the many and varied expressions of admiration which every detail of the trip so naturally and genuinely produced. In the more general sense, moreover, there is ground for all round satisfaction that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has contributed in such an excellent fashion, as witnessed by the capital outlay involved in the construction of the Kathleen and Marguerite, to the future development of one of the most profitable of Pacific Northwest industries—the tourist business and the manifold inseparable economic advantages.

THE LATE LORD MILNER

DURING THE MORE RECENT years of quickly-moving events, and in the less spectacular days since the signing of the armistice, former Cabinet Ministers and men who have contributed liberally to the progress of the Commonwealth have not been as prominent in the public mind as they might have been if the great conflict had been nothing but a dream. Nevertheless, and although he may have belonged more especially to the days which preceded it, it can be said that when the historian comes to assess the Empire's part in the war, and in the exacting days which followed it, the administrative genius of the late Lord Milner will be weighed in proper perspective and found to have been of immense value.

No British statesman who holds high office ever expects to escape criticism, and the late statesman had very definite views in respect of government which did not always conform to those held by a more modern school of democratic thought, but it was always true of him that he selected a course, particularly where the Empire was concerned, which he could readily support with an intimate knowledge of his subject. Outstanding in his liberal contribution to the service of his country, before and after the war of 1899-1902, and, in 1920, his chairmanship of the Commission to Egypt.

Nor should it be forgotten that when Lord Milner was Colonial Secretary he presented a practical view on the subject of immigration and one which many public men, opposed to a large scale movement, in Britain sometimes still overlook. He took the view that if a dissatisfied man left the British Isles and settled himself in comfortable surroundings in another part of the Empire, it would be a distinct gain to the whole family. He saw no loss to Britain in these circumstances and his point removed some of the prejudice which existed in the official mind at that time.

HOW WE LOSE

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON about three hundred representatives of the commercial and social life of the City of Seattle were in Victoria for more than three hours. Not a few of these were hoping to be able to avail themselves of the opportunity of making sundry purchases of goods of the distinctive character which is popular with the American visitor. But it was Wednesday afternoon and all the stores were closed. The impression which the early intimation seemed to make upon the minds of a number of influential men of trade and commerce on board could not have been flattering. Nothing could be done about it. None the less it was obvious that they wondered how Victoria could afford to dispense with half a day's business every week.

STONE FOR BREAD

INDIGNIFIED BUT NONE the less pointed language The Ottawa Citizen asks if anybody who took part in the recent Conservative assembly at the national capital believes that an independent and discerning Canadian could take any inspiration, find any guidance, or discover any light in the reported speeches made at that imposing affair.

From among what it describes as unreal and empty phrases our eastern contemporary selects this gem from the address of that Tory stalwart, the Hon. Rodolph Monty, P.C., K.C., erstwhile member of the short-lived Meighen Cabinet of 1921:

"It—meaning the gathering at which he was speaking—recalls great names, glorious deeds, a traditional endeavor in the up-building of the country; it recalls accomplishments which have not been equaled, and have dated, so far, the onslaughts of the radical elements which have developed in the country, and of that spineless and vote-begging outfit known as the Mackenzie King Government."

These observations are typical of the rest—the sort of leadership which Mr. Meighen would offer to a country which he and Dr. Tolmie and the rest of the Conservative stalwarts tell us is headed towards financial disaster. Nobody would suggest that the nation is anything like free of its troubles. But how on earth can it be expected to take heart and find encouragement from the utterances of the Conservative Party leaders? It asks for a constructive policy and all it gets is discredited tariffism. To quote The Citizen: "It asks for bread and receives a stone."

Canada deserves better of her political prophets. Dr. Tolmie tells the West that its hope lies in a higher tariff. In order that a few manufacturers in the East might earn larger dividends he would charge the settler on the southeastern portion of Vancouver Island more for the implements which that settler must use on his farm, in the mine, or in the forest. This is how he would develop the young West.

If this country is going to meet her obligations within a reasonable time and put herself in a position to launch out upon a still more ambitious plan of development in the broad and vacant acres, the newcomer must be able to take his own individual share under conditions which will lighten him from the start. He will find nothing in the barren and hopeless future which Mr. Meighen and Dr. Tolmie and the rest of the Conservative leaders depict for him every time they get on their feet in public. In the policies of the King Government he will find the assistance he needs.

LAST DAY IS MAY 16

UNLESS ALL THOSE qualified voters in the ridings of Victoria and Esquimalt who disfranchised themselves by not voting at the provincial general election last June take steps to reinstate themselves on the electoral roll before May 16, they will not be able to vote at the forthcoming Federal contest. More than nine thousand were involved and the process of re-registration to date has been exceedingly slow, not more than one-third having attended to the matter. There should be no hesitation to make the necessary application on the part of any who omitted to vote last June.

DR. FRANK CRANE On RELIGION

WHEN a man has arrived at the age of fifty years with faculties undimmed, his ideas about religion are apt to be interesting. Usually they are not very theoretical, but have been modified by his experience.

Dr. Charles W. Elliot, one of the foremost minds of the United States, recently gave some interesting opinions on this subject. He said that while boys and girls, according to his observation, are extremely religious, are extremely earnest on religious subjects with their own kindred, when they go to college they talk a great deal with their kindred about them. He says that almost all educated youth acquire and cherish motives that may fairly be called religious.

The motive which is the most practical is the desire to be serviceable in the world, serviceable to comrades and friends, to families, to the town or city, and to the nation. Toward the creeds of the past he has a frank and frankly suspicious attitude. He rejects almost all of them, and comes to the question of religion with a free mind.

The two sentiments that most inspire men to do good deeds are love and hope, and religion gives more rational play to these two sentiments than any other doctrine.

The new religion affords indefinite scope for progress and development. It rejects all limitations of family, tribal and national religion. Its fundamental precept of serviceableness admits of infinite variety of time and space. It is very simple, and therefore possesses an important element of durability.

Most religions condemn the majority of the human race to hell and reserve salvation to a comparatively small portion. This has been due to the effort the Church to reserve the saving business for itself. But Dr. Elliot believes the ancient systems of reward and punishment of the future world will have to be abandoned.

To his mind, the desire to be serviceable to one's fellows leads directly to a belief in God, and he does not believe that the religion of the future will be devoid of worship. The new religion will magnify and exalt God's love and compassion, but will not venture to state what the justice of God may or may not require of any of His creatures.

It is an old man who has passed the ordinary term of life and who has spent his days in intellectual activity, the above views are interesting.

WHO'S WHO IN HISTORY TO-DAY

THURSDAY, MAY 14 LOUIS XIII King of France, son of Henry IV and Marie de Medici, reigned as the throne under the regency of his mother, Marie de Medici, died at St. Germain-en-Laye on May 14, 1643.

ROBERT OWEN British social reformer, the founder of English socialism, was born at Newtown, Wales, on May 14, 1771. As part owner of cotton mills at New Lanark, he introduced extensive reforms looking towards an improvement in the condition of the workers. Later he severed his connection with the mills and devoted himself to the propagation of socialism.

CARL SCHURZ Famous German-American statesman, journalist and general, died at New York City on May 14, 1899. Fleeing to Switzerland, after taking part in an insurrection in the Palatinate, he later came to the United States and became a prominent member of the Republican Party. He served in the Civil War, attaining the rank of major-general; was secretary of the Interior, United States senator from Missouri, and editor of the New York Evening Post for four years.

JOSEPH M. CHOATE Eminent American lawyer and diplomat, died on May 14, 1917. A member of the Committee of Seventy, he aided in the overthrow of the "Tweed Ring" in New York. He was ambassador to Great Britain for six years. He was noted as an orator and after-dinner speaker.

PULPWOOD

To the Editor:—In a letter dated April 6, appearing in several Canadian papers, W. O. Sealey of Hamilton, Ontario, states that if the 1,400,000 cords of pulpwood which he exported were manufactured in Canada it would distribute $90,000,000 in wages instead of nothing.

The total salary and wages paid by the entire pulp and paper industry in Canada in 1923 were only $38,270,000. It is evident, therefore, that the manufacture of 1,400,000 cords would mean a wage distribution of only $14,900,000.

You will find the authority for my figures in the latest Blue Book of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Forestry Division, published January 12, 1925.

REAL ESTATE VALUES To the Editor:—I do not want an argument with Mr. Stinson on the above topic, neither have I time to call upon him as he requests me to do, but I am leaving to-night for my summer home on Road Island.

I would like to know (with your permission) to correct Mr. Stinson in one particular. The lot on Moss Street I referred to is not my lot. Neither is there anything "disgraceful" about the lot; disgraceful seems an absurd adjective to employ in connection with the lot in level, clear and grassy; it is within twenty minutes' walk of the post office, and to anyone wishing to build a home as good a lot as any in Fairfield.

It is a charming hostess at her home, "Schuhum," Rockland Avenue, last evening, for a large and mah jong party in aid of the fund for the Victoria Hospital. The affair was an outstanding success, financially as well as socially, and twenty-four tables were engaged in play throughout the evening.

HEALTH & DISEASE

Chronic Inflammation of the Stomach

Chronic inflammation of the stomach is a condition of disturbed digestion associated with an increased amount of mucus, a change in the amount of strength of the stomach juice and weakness of the muscles of the stomach, so that food is retained for an abnormally long time in the stomach.

There are several causes which start the above condition, such as eating unsuitable or improperly cooked food, too fatty foods, too starchy foods, hot bread, hot cakes, pie, iced drinks, the excessive use of tea and coffee, alcohol in all its forms, and the abuse of tobacco.

Hot, or fresh bread is one of the great offenders, more so in the United States where the bakers have educated the people to eat fresh bread to the ill-health of the customers and a loss to the bakery. In a bakery in the United States, where the output is about 75,000 loaves per day, often at the end of the day they have to destroy 1,500 to 2,000 loaves, where-as in Canada, where the output is about 100,000 loaves per day, often at the end of the day they have to destroy 1,500 to 2,000 loaves, where-as in Canada, where the output is about 100,000 loaves per day, often at the end of the day they have to destroy 1,500 to 2,000 loaves.

LEMMEIX ACT OF CANADA AMENDED

Commons Decides on Changes in Industrial Disputes Investigation Measure

Ottawa, May 14.—An act to amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 1907 came before the House of Commons yesterday afternoon for second reading.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, explained that the act was the result of the decision rendered by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London and was to limit the application of the act to matters not within the legislative jurisdiction of any province.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Conservative, St. John-Albert, declared he did not oppose the proposed legislation, but feared, however, that the bill in its present form might open up an avenue for further litigation without obtaining corresponding benefits. He thought there might possibly be an encroachment upon provincial rights under the bill as it now reads.

CHURCH'S VIEWS T. L. Church, Conservative, North Toronto, doubted if the bill had been as carefully drafted as it might have been. He advised the Federal Parliament to restrict its legislative activities in this case to Federal fields. He thought, for instance, that the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act might well apply to all work covered by the Civil Service Commission, Post Office and Customs department.

The recent decision of the Privy Council declaring the old Industrial Disputes Investigation Act ultra vires of the Federal Parliament was, in his opinion, an excellent judgment.

MACLEAN SPOKE W. F. Maclean, Conservative, South York, differed sharply from Mr. Church. He did not believe any Canadian should rejoice in the spectacle of another country settling Canada's disputes. He recommended that the Canadian Government apply immediately for such changes in the British North America Act as would give Canada absolute autonomy.

AMENDMENT REJECTED T. L. Church submitted an amendment which, however, was not accepted, to provide that no provincial or municipal public utility wholly situated within the province might be declared to be worked for the general advantage of Canada.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, stated the proposed legislation simply defined what the Federal Government could do in labor matters.

In so far as amending the constitution of Canada was concerned, Mr. Lapointe pointed out that a conference between the Federal Government and the various provincial administrations had been called.

Since the recent decision of the British Privy Council declaring the old act ultra vires of the Federal Parliament, numerous requests had been received from employers and employees to revise the act as far as possible.

If the validity of the new act was ever challenged, "we are ready to meet the foe," said Mr. Lapointe.

who concluded his speech by pointing out that the bill had been given a most careful scrutiny by the Justice Department.

Mr. Murdock moved an amendment to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1907, providing that where a dispute directly affects employees in more than one province and such employees are members of a trade union having a general committee authorized to carry on negotiations, a statutory declaration to the effect that the dispute has been the subject of negotiations between the committee of the employees and employer, or that it has been impossible to secure a conference or to enter into negotiations, would be sufficient grounds for the acceptance of an application by the department to establish a board.

CHANGES BARRED Mr. Lapointe moved a further amendment to the effect that, in cases of dispute "it shall be unlawful for the employer to make effective a proposed change in wage or hours, or for the employees to go on strike, until the dispute has been finally dealt with by a board."

A third amendment from the Government was moved by Mr. Lapointe, stating that "an employer declaring or causing a lockout or making effective a change in wages or hours, contrary to the provisions of the act, should be liable to a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $1,500 a day for each day or part of a day that such lockout or change exists."

This amendment also was passed. WONG HEARING

At yesterday afternoon's session of the court there were several exchanges between counsel as to the fairness of the methods followed by Mr. Jackson in examining F. L. Baker, in the employ of whose household Janet Smith was when she met death. Magistrate McQueen repeatedly ruled the prosecuting attorney's questions out of order, especially efforts to put in Wong Sing's evidence taken at the inquest.

"I submit that anything which the witness said in the hearing of the witness may be given," argued Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson read the coroner's warning to the accused and stated that "There was nobody around that might be used against him."

"Because the coroner said it doesn't make it law," argued Mr. Senkler. "There was nobody around that might be used against him."

AUTHORITIES ASKED

Magistrate McQueen ruled he would have to be given authorities before he would allow depositions taken at an inquest to be put in as evidence against the accused.

Mr. Senkler also objected on various occasions that Mr. Jackson was trying to "boast" statements out of the witness, and protested that he was leading, cross-examining and browbeating Mr. Baker.

"It is unfair to the accused and unfair to the witness in view of the many vile rumors that have been floating around this city," he declared.

The magistrate stated he had allowed Mr. Jackson a great deal of leeway, but warned him hereafter to keep within the rules and avoid cross-examination.

POINTED TO DIFFERENCES

The prosecuting counsel stressed several discrepancies between the evidence given by Mr. Baker yesterday and that given at the inquest. Mr. Baker said yesterday that on his arrival home in response to Wong Sing's telephone message on the fatal morning he had gone into the basement by going around the house. At the inquest, Mr. Jackson claimed he had said he had gone through the rooms.

"Through the garden, I meant," was Mr. Baker's explanation.

In Mr. Baker's account of his movements on the morning of the shooting, he mentioned yesterday that he had been at the Spencer store.

"You never told us that before," reminded Mr. Jackson.

"No, I have thought of it since," said the witness.

FURNITURE USED

Mr. Jackson also appeared to lay some stress on the fact that Mr. Baker had none of his own furniture in the Oaler Avenue home, which he was temporarily occupying at the time of the tragedy.

Mr. Senkler failed to see what that had to do with Wong Sing, the man who was charged, but Mr. Jackson, without explanation, proceeded with the questions.

Much of the evidence adduced yesterday remained mysterious in the minds of the spectators, but counsel gave his assurance that it would be cleared up later.

BLOOD ON SPECTACLES

Dr. A. W. Hunter, who performed the autopsy, was called upon to examine the dead girl's spectacles and ascertain the angle at which the splashes of blood on the lenses had represented the position of the eyes when they came from left to right, although the wound was in the girl's right temple.

Starting the examination with regard to the spectacles, which were found by the body, Mr. Jackson asked Dr. Hunter what was the substance on the glasses.

"It is a pigment which may or may not be blood," he said. "That could be determined by analysis."

"I may say the glass has been stained to make that test," said Mr. Jackson.

"In the direction the same in reference to substance on the glass?" was the next question.

"It is the same direction in both lenses," said Dr. Hunter.

"What is that direction?" again asked Mr. Jackson.

"My answers vary with the position of the glasses at the time they were smudged," replied the doctor. "There is a difference whether the glasses were vertical or horizontal."

"I mean whether the spots came from top, bottom, right or left side, assuming the glasses were blood spotted," explained counsel.

"The direction is oblique with reference to the axis of the nose-piece," said Dr. Hunter. "It is very suggestive of a downward spattering, but whether from right or left depends on whether the lenses were horizontal or vertical. It suggests from left to right, in my opinion, on both lenses."

Part of the man bearing the stain is missing, which makes it difficult to ascertain.

COOLING OF BODY

Mr. Jackson then asked Dr. Hunter as to the rate of cooling of a body after death.

"It is right that a body cools at the rate of one degree centigrade per hour for the first twelve hours after death," he asked in relation to a passage from a medical text book.

"Those are the observations of competent men," was the reply.

BURNS ON BODY

Beginning his cross-examination, Mr. Senkler asked for an explanation of Dr. Hunter's statement on the burns.

"I mean that the two burns, the one on the body and the one on the arm, could not be caused by the same arm, could not be the same time if the arm was extended straight by the side," said the witness.

"At the inquest you said they could have been caused," said Mr. Senkler.

"I have made tests since," said the witness, "but if the arm were flexed considerably the burns could have been caused by a household iron at the same time. Not, however, if the arm was extended."

BOND FORFEITED

Seattle, May 14.—Bond for $10,000 for Charles H. Unverzagt, charged in Buffalo, N.Y., with murder of a man in connection with a British Columbia mining enterprise, was forfeited yesterday by Federal Judge Neterer, who said Unverzagt was "playing with the courts."

Unverzagt was arrested in Vancouver, and he charged he was kidnapped across the international border by United States officers. He was under $10,000 bond for trial in Buffalo June 1.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Trail, B.C., May 14.—John Campbell, aged twenty-one, who came to Canada from Stornoway, Hebrides, a year ago, was electrocuted here Tuesday night when a high tension wire grounded through him. He was a shift boss working on a line connecting the size rosters of the smelter with the new stack and approached the wire when he climbed a steel girder. A coroner's jury declared death accidental.

I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and I shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. THOMAS H. GARDNER, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere.

NEWS IN BRIEF B. C. MINES SET RECORD, NEARING $50,000,000 MARK

Increasing in Output During Last Year Runs Eighteen Per Cent, Hon William Sloan Says in His Annual Report To-day; Profitable Future Forecast Especially for Lead and Silver Mines Because of Great Demand for These Metals.

Record production for the mines of British Columbia in 1924 is shown by the final and revised annual report of the Department of Mines issued to-day by the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines and acting Premier. Mr. Sloan has got the report out a month earlier than usual because of the great public interest in development in the mining areas.

The gross value of the mineral production of the Province for the year 1924 was $48,704,604, an increase over that of 1923 of $7,400,284, or equivalent to an increase of about eighteen per cent. With the increasing activity in 1925 it is a certainty that the next annual report will show production well over the $50,000,000 mark, Mr. Sloan says.

The following table shows the quantities and values of the mineral products for 1923 and 1924. Table with columns: Measure, Quantity, Value for 1923 and 1924. Items include Gold, Silver, Copper, Lead, Zinc, Coal, and Miscellaneous Products.

*Long ton of 2,240 pounds. SLOAN MUCH PLEASSED "It is extremely gratifying," said Mr. Sloan in part, "to note that the above-mentioned output for the year 1924 is the greatest in the history of mining in the Province, and compares with the two previous record productions of $42,300,000 in 1918 and $41,782,474 in 1916, when the high production was due to war-time stimulus of output and war-time prices of metals. An increased production in 1924 was shown in all metals and building materials, but a heavy decrease occurred in the output of coal and coke; this decrease was mainly due to the cessation of mining in the Crow's Nest field for a large part of the year owing to a protracted strike."

Year Silver Copper Lead Zinc Cents per oz. per oz. per oz. per oz. 1923 64.87 14.42 7.27 6.61 1924 66.78 13.02 8.09 6.34

Percentage increase and decrease in 1924. The band of the Victoria Fire Department gave a volunteer concert in Beacon Hill Park yesterday between 2:15 and 4 p.m. on the occasion of the Wednesday half-holiday. Next week they will play at Central Park at 7 p.m., unless there is a change in plans. Created by the firemen in their off-duty moments, the band is now an attractive addition to the musical organizations of the city, and its concert yesterday was very highly appreciated by visitors at the park.

Dominion Bureau Statistics received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce show a substantial increase in the value of building permits issued in March as compared with February. Tabulated reports show that the value of building permits issued in March was $5,457,791 as compared with $5,181,442 in the preceding month. The value of building permits issued in March was higher by 10.2 per cent and 1.3 per cent than 1 nine first three months of 1924 and 1923 respectively.

Canadian firms will be well advised to reflect on the many British West Indian business houses which have been operating there for many years and are well known. Victoria manufacturers and members of the Industrial Development Group are to attend the city joint luncheon meeting to be held at 12:15 to-morrow at the Chamber of Commerce cafe. This meeting is designed to discuss the proposed temporary home products general store as proposed at the exhibitors' luncheon at the recent home products exhibition in order that the material may receive the fullest attention. It is hoped that this meeting will prove a thoroughly representative gathering.

Use of the High School auditorium is not to be granted entertainers save when public organizations are concerned, the School Board last night decided. An application to use the auditorium for a folk dancing display was refused, after Trustees Beckwith and Peden had pointed out that many commercially operated halls are available in the city. Trustees Brown could see no reason for departure from a precedent already departed, and was reminded that the case he referred to was sponsored by the Ladies' Musical Club, a public organization doing valuable educational work.

The special meeting of the Equimait School Board left to the call of the chair will not take place before next week, it was learned to-day. At this meeting a public Board will receive the report of the committee that interviewed city authorities as to high school tuition fees. In the interim a meeting of ratepayers has gone on record as opposed to any change in the Equimait educational facilities at the present time. Tabled before the Equimait board is a suggestion that the High School be abolished and that manual training and domestic science classes be halted at the close of the present term. Action on the policy to be adopted by the board is expected next week.

Hotel Was Burned In Saskatchewan Watrous, Sask., May 14.—The Manitow Beach Hotel, at Lake Manitow, three miles from here, was destroyed by fire to-day with an estimated loss of $50,000, with $5,000 insured. The hotel was the largest at the Summer resort.

Little Girl Lost Life Brantford, Ont., May 14.—Three-year-old Laura Sitzer was fatally burned yesterday when her clothing caught fire while she was playing around a bonfire.

CITY MAY SELL FIVE HUNDRED LOTS AT AUCTION

Big Scheme Being Discussed By City Lands Committee Ald. Woodward Resigns From Committee; Not in Harmony

Unreserved sale by auction of 500 city lots is being seriously considered by the reverted lands committee of the City Council, and proposals to be laid before the council are well advanced.

At a number of sessions of the lands committee, some such action has been mooted, but it was not until the council definitely decided against adoption of the Woodward scheme for wholesale disposal of the city's lands that real progress was made on the alternative of public sale at auction.

WOODWARD RESIGNS Mayor Penderay yesterday afternoon announced that he has received and accepted the resignation of Alderman Woodward from the reverted lands committee, and will appoint a successor at next Monday's session of the council. Alderman Woodward's resignation was as follows: "Will you kindly relieve me of my duties as a member of the reverted lands committee? I am not in harmony with the prevailing viewpoint on that committee, and feel that I cannot usefully devote more time this year to reverted lands problems."

METHODIST W.M.S. RAISED $20,950 IN YEAR JUST CLOSED Victoria Report Presented at Vancouver Convention Yesterday

Vancouver, May 14.—Over $20,950 was raised during last year by members of the Methodist Women's Missionary Society in British Columbia, according to the treasurer's statement given by Mrs. H. M. Derbyshire on Wednesday at Mount Pleasant Methodist Church, Mrs. W. J. Sippell presiding. Auxiliaries had raised $15,900, circles about $2,792, while bands had raised $2,258. Donations had raised this amount, and the total, as stated above, is $20,950 increase over last year's giving.

Mrs. A. E. Bolton, in presenting the report of the supply work of the year, said all branches had shown an increase in their interest in this department of mission work. An optimistic outlook characterized Mrs. E. Day Washington's report for bands of the Province, and she urged more effort in this field, since foundation work for missions should be laid among children. Twenty new bands had been organized, and $1,000 more had been received the banner for highest standing.

Mrs. A. E. Roberts, in presenting a report for circles of the Province, reported that more work had not been done among teen age girls. Three circles had graduated and became junior auxiliaries. District reports of work for past year were given for Nanaimo, by Mrs. R. W. Welch and for Victoria by Mrs. J. W. Saunby.

ZANNI'S PLANE IN NEED OF REPAIRS Argentine World Flier Had Accident When Attempting to Leave Osaka Spare Parts For Machine to Be Sent to Him From Yokohama

Tokyo, May 14.—Patricio D. Murphy, who is arranging the plans for Zanni's Trans-Pacific flight, when he learned of the accident to the Argentine flier's plane at Osaka, said there were plenty of spare parts at Yokohama if the aeroplane was not seriously damaged, and it would be repaired and the flight resumed. Details of the damage to the machine have not yet been received, but it is reported the plane, which was partly submerged following the accident, has been towed in and hoisted ashore.

Zanni had planned to hop off from Osaka this afternoon for Kasumigaura, where he was to prepare for the resumption of his world flight. Zanni had reached Tokyo from Europe on his world flight when Winter overtook him. He planned to make the attempt to cross the Pacific this month. A dispatch from Osaka said: "As Major Pedro Zanni, the Argentine aviator was attempting to hop off from here Thursday at noon for Kasumigaura, whence he proposes to restart on his world flight, his aeroplane overturned. There were no casualties."

HOME BANK BILL IN OTTAWA SOON Ottawa, May 14.—Premier King announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Government expected to bring down the bill for the reimbursement of Home Bank depositors within a fortnight. The Government had previously announced its intention to give effect to the recommendations of the Banking Committee last session that the depositors had a moral claim in equity. The bill will indicate to what extent the Government proposed to reimburse the depositors.

ACTOR RE-ENACTS OWN LIFE IN FOX FILM NOW AT THE COLUMBIA

In Buck Jones' latest starring production, "The Trail Rider," which will open a three-day run at the Columbia Theatre to-day, Will Walling portrays a character which might be a page from his own life.

In the early days of Kansas and Oklahoma, described in the William Fox film, the Kansans opposed Texas cattlemen who ran their stock over Kansas territory, claiming that disease prevalent in Texas were brought to their healthy cattle.

During the earlier part of Mr. Walling's life, he was interested in large herds of steers and had to combat the same obstacles. Many of the thrilling scenes photographed for "The Trail Rider" were actually experienced by the actor.

screen, Brook has already established himself as one of its most capable actors. Among previous pictures in which he has taken leading roles were "Enticement" and "Playing With Souls." Prior to coming to this country, he was a star on the London stage.

"Declasse" is an adaptation from Ethel Barrymore's stage success of the same title. It draws a vivid contrast between social leadership and social ostracism in London's aristocracy, and affords Miss Griffith a highly emotional role of wide range. Lloyd Hughes is her leading man.

PLAYHOUSE LEADING LADY TRIES A NEW PART THIS WEEK

Since the opening of the Frank Morton Company at the Playhouse, Gladys Vaughan, leading lady of the organization, has played many parts, ranging from ingenious to character comedy. This week, in "Be Yourself, Dearie," she appears as a grande dame for the first time. Frank Morton, in a light comedy role, is a scream, with Roy Earle and Dave Dumbleton also appearing in comedy.

"Be Yourself, Dearie" is a merry tale of college life abounding in wholesome humor and fun. New musical numbers, costumes and stage settings, with interpolated instrumental and dancing specialties keep the bill going at a lively pace. "Thunderate," a big drama of Chinese life, features the screen end of the programme.

"The Lady" was adapted to the screen from the famous stage play by Marlin Brown. Much of the action taken place in the year 1900, and the gowns worn by the chorus girls and the fashionable women seen in "The Lady" were all designed from photographs taken in 1900.

The picture is proving particularly interesting to fathers and mothers who remember back twenty years, as well as to the flappers and sheiks of 1924.

"The Lady" is a First National attraction produced by Joseph M. Schenck. The cast includes Wallace MacDonald, Norma's leading man; Alf Gouling, Brandon Hurst, Emily Fitzroy, George Hackathorn, Walter Long, Marc MacDermott, Dorris Lloyd, John Fox, Jr., Paulette Duval, Edwin Hubbell, Loro Bafi, John Herdman, Marjaret Seddon, Miles McCarthy and Charles O'Malley.

YOUTHFUL STAR IN "MERTON OF MOVIES" SCORNS A DOUBLE

"The play must go on!"

The oldest, unbreakable maxim of the theatre has been instilled into Glenn Hunter, youthful star of "Merton of the Movies," but it caused him considerable anguish.

James Cruze, the noted Paramount director who is making the film version of the novel and play, had his company high in the hills back of Hollywood making a sequence of the story in which Hunter enacts the daredevil-movie-hercule roles which he dreams. It was what is known as a "vision" scene, but it had to be done in reality.

One scene was to show Merton, romantically garbed in cowboy chaps, boots, hat and a heavy cartridge belt, slide down a rope from a forty-foot cliff to rescue the imperiled heroine.

"Do you want a double?" Cruze asked Hunter.

"Not for me," said Hunter, and swung over the edge of the cliff as the camera started to click.

The weight of the leather chaps and the cartridge belt and gun proved too much for Hunter's strength. He took two downward jerks "hand-over-hand," and then began to slide, letting the rope slip through his fingers.

Ten feet from the ground the friction of the rope had burned the skin from the palms of his hands, and he loosed his grip and fell. But the scene was finished.

"Merton of the Movies," with Viola Dana, featured in support of the star, is being now shown at the Coliseum.

RETURN TO FARM IN SASKATCHEWAN

Ottawa, May 14.—Officers of the Canadian Department of Immigration and Colonization in the United States continue to meet many persons who have found from experience that the expected opportunities in the United States have not materialized, and are consequently returning to farm in Canada.

Among such examples the statement of P. O. Warner, of Blacklick, Ohio, is typical:

"In justice to Canada, I feel it my duty to tell you why we are going back. We lived in Southern Alberta fourteen years, and although we had some poor crops, we also had some very good ones. The country was new, the soil was fertile, and with a reasonable amount of moisture we could grow anything we planted.

"We grew cabbage that weighed 22 lbs. per head and oats 55 bushels per acre. Sixty-six bushels per acre of No. 1 Northern wheat was grown on our land the next year. I sold it, although we had never grown that much. We had lots of room to raise cattle and horses on a school section adjoining us, the rent of which cost very little.

"The climate is crisp and cold in winter and cool and pleasant in summer. The settler will find very little use for a physician here. Foggy, gloomy days are almost unknown. I believe the sun shines 250 days every year.

"We were induced by our relatives to come back to Ohio as wages were always made a good living. From our experience here and in Western Canada, we, a family of eight persons, would rather live in Canada. It is easier for a farmer to make a living there. The laboring man here has little chance to make a home, as it takes all his wages to live. I earn $3 per day, and I find it takes all I can save in summer to carry us over an idle time in winter, so at the end of a year I can usually balance my ledger with a zero; so we have plans made and we are going to drive back to Western Saskatchewan about July 1.

"We are going to drive through in a motor truck. We will camp on the way and enjoy the scenery, as it will be our last trip West, for we are never coming back."

Editors Will Meet In Richmond, Va.

Richmond, Va., May 14.—Made of mammoth wood from California and bound with bands of solid gold, the gift with which President George W. Marble of the National Editorial Association will call the fortieth annual convention of the association to order here June 1 has been in use for thirty-three years. It has passed through the hands of many of the most prominent men in journalism in the United States.

The gavel was presented to the association when it met in San Francisco, May 24, 1892, while W. S. Chapelle, of the Mansfield (Ohio) Daily News, was president. It was the gift of the California State Miners' Association. The gold used in the bands was worked out of the Gold Run mines of Dutch Flat, Placer County.

Inscribed on the band which encircles the handle are two mottoes: "A Drop of Ink Makes Millions Wealthy" and "A Good Paper is the Noblest Work of Man."

Traffic Problems of Buenos Ayres Grow

Buenos Ayres, May 14.—The city authorities of Buenos Ayres, whose population is approaching the 2,000,000 mark, are faced with a transportation and traffic problem that is ever growing more serious. The city possesses over 526 miles of surface and subway lines, the former carrying 600,000 passengers annually and the subway 60,000,000, but these are insufficient to handle the daily passenger movement without overcrowding, delay and congestion.

Additional subways linking up distant separated railway terminals with motorbus feeder lines are the necessary solution of the problem, transportation authorities say, but although the company operating the present subway presented a proposition to the city some three years ago to construct a new one, inability to agree on terms has so far prevented its being started.

Many motorbuses have been in operation during the last year, but they have caused the transportation facilities of the city only to a slight extent. Indeed, traffic congestion is increased largely by their use, together with the increasing numbers of automobiles.

Streets in the business section of the city are restricted to one way traffic, but even so vehicles in them move to a snail's pace during the busy hours.

Oxford is Honored By City of London

London, May 14.—Generous and lofty reference to Mr. Lloyd George, the colleague with whom he was at one time notoriously at open enmity, was the most loudly cheered part of the speech of Lord Oxford (H. H. Asquith) when he received the freedom of the city of London yesterday.

"Provision, almost miraculous in its range and rapidly, of munitions to meet wholly new exigencies will live in history as the unique achievement of Lloyd George," he said.

PRAYERS ASKED

Stockholm, May 17.—In accordance with an ancient Swedish custom, the anticipated birth of a baby at the royal castle in Stockholm has been announced to the public through a royal decree. Prayers have been asked in all Swedish churches for the welfare of Crown Princess Louise, who until her marriage to the Swedish Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus in 1923 was a member of the Royal Family of Great Britain. She was the daughter of Prince Louis of Battenberg, who during the Great War changed his name to Mountbatten.

TRAFFIC IN TITLES

London, May 14.—The question of trafficking in titles, notice of which was given recently in the House of Lords by the Earl of Selborne, came up in the House of Lords yesterday, when the Marquis of Salisbury said the Government proposed to introduce a bill this year with the object of attempting to make traffic in titles an offence, but feared the time for the passage of the bill through the House of Commons could not be found this session.

HEIGHTS CAPTURED BY FRENCH TROOPS

Drove Moroccan Tribesmen From All But Two of Surrounded Posts

Rabat, French Morocco, May 14.—Abdel Krim's Rifian invaders were severely punished by the French yesterday in a series of operations, which relieved all but two of the surrounded outposts and established the French on the Bibane Heights.

The Rifians were completely cleared out of the region, leaving great numbers of dead on the field. The French captured large quantities of arms and ammunition, including they claim, many Mausers and French rifles taken by the Germans at Mautbeuge in 1914.

One of the two French blockhouse garrisons still surrounded and holding off the Rifians in the Anzary post, where only a dozen native troops are still able to handle the guns out of a garrison of fifty men and two French officers. All the others were killed or seriously wounded.

The French met the stiffest sort of resistance in their forward movement, and there was much hand fighting, but the Bibane Heights were attained and positions established there.

The French losses are not stated.

PROTECTION FOR FRUIT GROWERS OF B.C. AND OTHERS DEBATED IN COMMONS

Ottawa, May 14.—A resolution introduced by Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, to strike out the original resolution introduced in the budget to amend the dumping clause and to restore the clause to its original form, was approved by the Commons and a bill based on it was given first reading.

W. C. Good, Progressive, Brant, Ont., asked if the officials of the department would still have the power arbitrarily to value the cost price of goods subject to the dumping clause.

Mr. Robb said he believed the officials were efficient in this regard and would have the same power given to them for the valuation of such goods.

FRUIT SITUATION

"I would like to ask the Minister under what regulations dumping was taken care of in respect to fruit in 1924," asked George Stirling, Conservative, Yale.

Mr. Robb replied this had been done under the Customs Act of 1923.

"Would the Minister explain why regulations were granted in such a wholesale manner as described in the report of Lewis Duncan, commissioner, who investigated the fruit combine in 'Canada'?" further inquired Mr. Stirling.

The Minister replied that he could not give a complete answer to this question.

John Evans, Progressive, Saskatoon, defended the raising of valuation of apples at a time, he said, when sagrant dumping was going on.

HONEST AND EFFICIENT

Mr. Robb said he thought it should be left to the customs men when the interests of Canadian industry were really being interfered with. He believed these men were honest and efficient.

"The Minister of Customs was a good lawyer and could be depended on not to exceed the provisions of the Customs Law," J. Luder, Conservative, Vancouver South, questioned the powers of customs officials to set an arbitrary depreciation value on imported goods subject to the dumping clause.

The Acting Minister of Finance pointed out that there was always provision in the Act for an appeal against rulings of officials in matters of valuation.

CHURCH LEAGUE IN OLD COUNTRY MEETS

London, May 14 (Canadian Press Cable).—Presiding at the annual conference of the National Church League, Sir Walter J. Gibbon, H.C., Home Secretary, made a vigorous protest against "Romanization" of the Church of England. Sir William chided the Anglo-Catholics with bad temper and said the driving force behind their movement was the return, in some form or other, to the pre-Reformation service of the mass.

Perusal of Church papers, he continued, showed a gradual encroachment, particularly in the villages of England, of services approximating those of the Roman Catholic Church, which were being forced on the congregation.

PRAYERBOOK QUESTION

The annual report of the league stated the campaign against Romanizing the prayerbook was continuing unrelentingly. It declared that if the schemes regarding the prayerbook revision, patronage in ecclesiastical courts and other matters already before the Church Assembly were not seriously modified, the evangelists might ultimately themselves be forced outside the Church of England.

In conclusion, the report of the council called attention to the great urgency for a vigorous campaign on behalf of Reformation principles.

The financial statement, he continued, showed a deficit of £2,000.

PRINCE OF WALES AT PORT ELIZABETH

Port Elizabeth, South Africa, May 14.—The Prince of Wales to-day visited the sports grounds here and spent an hour inspecting volunteers from the various services, while 3,400 children, many of them descended from the first British settlers who landed in 1820, cheered unceasingly.

Aeroplanes circled less than 100 feet overhead as the Prince, in the uniform of a colonel of the Welsh Guards, moved slowly from group to group, shaking hands and chatting.

So eager were hordes of colored spectators to get a view of the Prince that they suddenly closed in around him, fighting, struggling and attempting to crowd nearer. Two policemen instantly leaped to the side of the Prince and saved him annoyance. Newspaper correspondents were less fortunate and were wedged in the jam for several minutes before

Blue-jay is the delightful way to end a corn.

A tiny cushion, cool as velvet, fits over the corn—relieving the pressure. The pain stops at once. Soon the corn goes. Blue-jay leaves nothing to guess-work. You do not have to decide how much or how little to put on. Each downy plaster is a complete standardized treatment, with just the right amount of the magic medication to end the corn.

The dainty woman does not KEEP Corns

Almost every woman spends hours every week in the care of her face—cold-creaming it, cleansing it, massaging it, to guard against the tiniest blemish. . . . But that doesn't prove her daintiness. It may merely indicate pride and vanity. . . . The real proof of perfect daintiness is the care a woman takes of the things that are not seen. . . . A blemish on her foot is as objectionable to her as one on her face. The moment a corn appears, she applies a Blue-jay. At once the pain goes, in 48 hours the corn goes too.

tion and will leave for the Near East the latter part of July. Dr. Dougherty said his work would include lecturing and field work along archaeological lines, with special time given to a study of the topography of the land and an examination of mounds with the possibility of identifying sites of ancient cities. The new appointee is well known for his work in the translation of Babylonian tablets.

He made a big bite at the apple.

will find it's nothing but a hard stone.
"Putting the smooth, red rock in his pocket, the bunny gentleman hopped to his hollow stump bungalow. He gave Nurse Jane the sugar to make the jolly laughing buns, but before he could take out the red stone, Tingie, one of the little boy rabbits, put his paw in his daddy's coat pocket and pulled out the red stone. Daddy Uncle Wiggily couldn't answer, Tingie hopped for the little bunnies, so they were in the habit of looking through his pockets.
"Oh, see what I found!" cried Tingie, holding it up. "A big red apple! Oh, may I have it, Daddy?" Before Uncle Wiggily could answer, Tingie started to take a bite of what he thought was an apple. But his teeth grated on the hard stone. "Oh, what a funny apple!" he cried.
"Don't bite it any more, or you'll break your teeth," warned Uncle Wiggily. "That's a red stone I found to play a joke on Nurse Jane with. Wait now, I'll put some sugar on this stone and maybe our muskrat lady will think it's a candy apple."
So Mr. Longears spread some sugar on the red stone, and set it on the table. Then, while the little boy and girl rabbits waited, holding their paws—over—their mouths so they wouldn't laugh and spoil the jolly hour about it—Uncle Wiggily went out in the kitchen to call in Nurse Jane.
But while he was gone, the Woolsey Wolf jumped through an open window of the bungalow, for he saw many tender little rabbits in the room.
"I'll have something to eat!" howled the Wolf. And then, seeing the sugared red stone on the table, he thought it was something good, and he cried, "I'll take this candy apple!" Then he took a big bite at the apple, but as it was a hard, red stone, he howled, "Zoople! Zoople!" he howled, as he jumped out of the window and ran away.
"Fooled again!" growled Uncle Wiggily. Of course then it was of no use to try and play a joke on Nurse Jane with the red stone for an apple. And the muskrat lady laughed when she heard about it. But the bunny gentleman was glad he had found the red stone, for it frightened away the Wolf. The little bunnies liked the jolly laughing buns very much. And if the rubber ball doesn't squirt water in the eye of the needle and make it blink, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the silver arrow.

There is a market for about 8,000 of the meat prepared for export. Fertilizer and dog food are by-products. It has been reliably stated that the amount of food consumed by Montana's worthless cayuses would sustain 2,000,000 head of sheep and 800,000 head of cattle annually.

A Bicycle Built for Two!

Of course, you would not often see a C.C.M. Bicycle carrying two people as shown in the picture.

But it is amply strong enough to do so. A C.C.M. is in reality "A Bicycle Built For Two".

This surplus strength is built into the C.C.M. without adding an ounce of unnecessary weight. It is achieved by the use of the very best materials, by special reinforcements of the frame and by rigidity of construction.

This reserve strength is more important than you might, at first, think. It means safety for the rider and long life for the bicycle. The C.C.M. will withstand unusual strains, sudden jolts, unexpected jars far better than a cheaper machine, while bumping over ruts, railway crossings, stones and rough ground is all in the day's work for the C.C.M.

As an example of the reserve strength of the C.C.M., take the frame. It is of English Seamless Tubing, reinforced at the joints. The forks, too, have a drop forged crown, making them practically unbreakable. The bearings are of flint-hard steel. The spokes of specially drawn and heat-treated wire. The rims of clear maple, tested for strength.

In fact, every one of the 1,761 parts of a C.C.M. is of superior quality and strength. And when you have

1,761 parts, all of superior quality and strength, the result is a bicycle with a wide margin of safety, superiority and long life—in truth, "A Bicycle Built for Two".

Slip into the C.C.M. dealer's. He will be glad to tell you more about the C.C.M. and show you the new models for men, women, boys and girls.

Prices Again Reduced
This year C.C.M. prices have again been reduced. They are now selling at the lowest prices since pre-war days—$20 to $25 less than the after-war "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's value for every dollar you invest.

Don't coax your children to the table

When you serve Puffed Rice, they come with eager expectancy

EAGER children troop in glee to the table when mother serves Puffed Rice. To them the bowls are heaped with a delightful confection, but mother knows that this fascinating cereal is good food that brings rosy cheeks and happy health.

These wonderful whole grains, puffed to eight times normal size, are rich in minerals and carbohydrates. Served with milk or cream, vitamins are added. It is just the food little folk need for breakfast, at playtime, or in the evening.

Whenever hunger makes demand, serve them Puffed Rice or Puffed Wheat. They are easily digested. Between meals, they satisfy without over-crowding little systems. All cooked, ready to serve.

Your grocer keeps Puffed Rice and Puffed Wheat. Order both—the variety will please the children.

In Their Pockets, Too

Give the boys and girls a handful of Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice to eat like peanuts. The crisp grains encourage mastication.

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily and the Red Stone

Copyright, 1925, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis)

"Uncle Wiggily, will you please go to the store for me," called Nurse Jane Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit-gentleman one day. "Your new wife has gone calling on Mrs. Twinstytail, the lady pig, and I am going to get lunch for you and the little rabbits."
"Oh, ho! This seems quite like old times!" laughed Mr. Longears, as he twinkled his pink nose at Nurse Jane. "Of course I'll go to the store for you. What do you want?"
"Some sugar," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper, who continued to live at the hollow stump bungalow, even though Uncle Wiggily had married the widow bunny lady with so many little rabbit children. "Get me some sugar, for I am going to make some jolly laughing buns."
"What are laughing buns?" asked Uncle Wiggily, surprised like and puzzled.
"They are just the opposite from hot cross buns," answered Nurse Jane. "They will make you laugh when you eat them."
"Then the more the better!" chuckled the bunny gentleman, and away he hopped over the fields and through the woods to get the sugar for Nurse Jane. He did not take any of the little rabbit boys and girls with him this time, as he was in a hurry.
"I'll take them adventuring with me when I get back," said Mr. Longears, picking it up. "A big red stone, like an apple," and truly, the stone did look just like that—a red, rosy-cheeked apple. "I'll take it home and play a trick on Nurse Jane," said Mr. Longears with a chuckle. "I'll tell her it's a red apple, and when she tries to peel it she

TUBERCULOUS MEN MAKE PRESENTATION TO RETIRING OFFICER

The Tuberculous Veterans' Association at their special general meeting yesterday afternoon accepted with regret the resignation of Secretary-treasurer Comrade R. N. Ballantine, who is leaving shortly for the interior on several weeks' vacation for health reasons. His resignation in office will be appointed permanently at the election of officers next month. The retiring secretary was awarded a suitable presentation as a token of his faithful service for three successive terms.

The meeting decided to pay their share towards the cost of telegrams forwarded to Ottawa as a result of the recent meeting of ex-servicemen which was held in the City Hall.

The local branch is in receipt of information to the effect that House of Commons bills, number 70 and 32, relative to pensions and canteen fund legislation, have finally passed the Commons and have been submitted to the Senate for the approval of that body. The meeting expressed disappointment over the fact that several vital questions affecting tuberculous veterans and dependents have been evaded, and are therefore not embodied in the bill. However, strenuous efforts will again be made to have these matters dealt with at the next session of Parliament.

Each Tell of Contribution at Conference Lately Meeting

Prohibition Secretary Leads Discussion on Liquor Control Act

Methodist laity passed safely through an intense session of their association on Wednesday afternoon before in the final minutes of it they elected a president for the 1925-26 term. The choice fell upon W. E. Harper of the Astro-physical Observatory, who has been the vice-president of the past season.

The early part of the afternoon had been spent in the fraternal addresses from laymen of the Presbyterian and Congregational Churches, who each told of the contribution their own churches hoped to make to the United Church. They were followed by George Bell on the same subject.

The main feature of the verbal menu of the afternoon came with the address of the Rev. W. W. Peck, general secretary of the Prohibition Association, who presented the facts as to present conditions under the Liquor Control Act. He showed that the expenditure for the Province during 1924 through liquor stores alone had been almost $12,000,000, and that this did not take account of the expenditure of the people through illicit channels, clubs or beer parlors now operating. Discussion followed led by George Copland, John Horner, George Bell and others.

Conference has been asked to ordain Rev. Y. Ogura, who has been for the past year carrying on an enlarging work in this city and who has passed all his examinations. Mr. Ogura is a member of the Methodist Conference at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Japan and is being ordained at the request of Bishop Ozaki of Tokyo. He has been working for the past three years under the Superintendent of Oriental Missions, Dr. S. S. Osterhout. The ordination will take place on Sunday morning at the Conference church.

CONFERENCE BANQUET

The regular annual conference banquet was this year the largest affair of the sort that has ever been held. It was a time of fellowship and reminiscing of the early days more than a third of a century ago, when the conference met in Pandora Avenue Methodist Church.

Dr. Crowther, of the University Church, Seattle, gave the evening address on "A United Church." His message into which you are entering, he said, "is the first step on the way to the reunion of Christendom. The issues of the past which divide us are being cleared up."

This was one of the best Wednesday evenings that chronic conference-goers remember to have seen. The staid, committee men immediately on the rise of the evening meeting and wrestled most of the night over the problems arising out of the "best draft" of ministers which was presented to the conference on rising at noon today.

One of the most picturesque figures of the older men who are attending conference is Capt. Oliver, the skipper of the mission boat Thomas Cosby. He has been a regular conference-goer for many a year. Now at seventy-seven he is still hale and an A.B. according to the rating of seagoers. He is regularly employed on the northern coast, regularly pilots his craft in all seasons and weathers, himself the "captain and the midshipman."

DECIDE AGAINST AMALGAMATION OF CHURCHES JUST NOW

Plan to Join Centennial and Congregational Churches Abandoned For Present

The quarterly official board of Centennial Church on Tuesday evening, after giving the fullest consideration to the proposal of amalgamation with the Congregational Church of this city, finally concluded that such action would be inadvisable at this time.

While the vote was taken on Sunday gave approval of the scheme by a majority of only one vote of the members of the board, the board which is the body responsible for final action, was constrained to decide against amalgamation for the present.

They were influenced by the word received from the leaders in the union movement asking that all over the Dominion, any adjustments with local churches be delayed until the General Council had met in June, and a uniform course of action provided to govern the matters of adjustment such as contemplated between Centennial and the Congregational.

It was felt too that insufficient
